Freedom of Expression Weekly Newsletter (Issue 38/21 - October 1, 2021)

What happened last week?

- The Parliament started its new legislative period after a two and a half month recess. Approval of the Paris Climate Convention, the tax bill, regulation of social media censorship and budget negotiations are the first topics that will come to the agenda in the new legislative year.
- On the other hand, the Republican People's Party (CHP), Good Party, Felicity Party, Democrat Party, Future Party, and Democracy and Progress (DEVA) Party will meet at the Parliament on October 5 to work on a "Strengthened Parliamentary System". The 6 opposition parties, which had previously gathered in Istanbul, will continue to discuss the principles of the parliamentary system with topics such as an impartial president, a strengthened parliament and an independent judiciary.
- The People's Democratic Party (HDP) announced its stance before and after the 2023 presidential and parliamentary elections with a declaration called "Call for Justice, Democracy and Peace". A "principle meeting" was emphasized to change the Presidential Government System, which was stated to "institutionalize and perpetuate arbitrariness and tyranny", and the Parliament was addressed for the solution of the Kurdish problem. Please click here for details.
- Responding to the opposition parties' demand for a return to the Parliamentary system, President Erdoğan stated their satisfaction with the Presidential system and that there will be no return to the Parliamentary system. In his speech for the opening of the Parliament, Erdoğan made a call for a new Constitution.
- Speaker of the Grand National Assembly of Turkey, Mustafa Şentop said, "The number of immunity files submitted to the Parliament in this legislative period reached 1,359".
- The President of the Constitutional Court, Zühtü Arslan, warned the government about the rule of law and said, "There can be no talk of a state of law in a place where the execution of court decisions is not ensured properly. After the Constitutional Court has made a decision on unconstitutionality, insisting on the execution of this unconstitutionality is a deliberate violation of the Constitution."
- While the President of the Constitutional Court made this warning, the Council of Judges and Prosecutors made Akin Gürlek, the Chief Judge of Istanbul 14th Assize Court, a first-class judge. With the promotion of Gürlek, the Council of Judges and Prosecutors violated its own policy decision taken in January 2020. In this principle decision, "whether [one] gave rise to a violation decision in the examinations made by the European Court of Human Rights and the Constitutional Court" was added to the promotion criteria for judges and prosecutors. In addition, in the Human Rights Action Plan announced by Erdoğan last March, it was determined that "judicial authorities' decision-making in line with the precedents of the Constitutional Court and the European Court of Human Rights is a criterion in the promotion and appointment processes".

- President Erdogan and Russian President Vladimir Putin met in Sochi, Russia. The two leaders did not make a detailed statement after the meeting, where only translators were present and were expected to talk about the tension in Syria, cooperation in Libya, and the S-400.
- Pointing out that they aim to alleviate the workload of the judiciary, President Erdoğan said that a judge looks at 709 files in the judicial judiciary and 408 files in the administrative judiciary. Erdogan announced that they are preparing to establish peace commissions in each province.
- According to the data of the Ministry of Health, the loss of life due to Covid-19 in September was 7,344. September was recorded as the third month with the highest loss of life during the epidemic.
- The 2020 reports of the Court of Accounts, which monitor the financial activities of public institutions, have been announced. In the Presidency Audit Report for the Year 2020 of the Court of Accounts, the Presidency's operating expenses were announced as 2 billion 896 million liras and its net operating income as 95 million 632 thousand liras. The Presidency spent 7.9 million liras per day in 2020, and 2 billion 896 million 174 thousand liras in total. As they kept talking about savings measures, many institutions - from ministries to directorates - were as bad as the Palace when it came to spending.
- According to the data shared by the Journalists' Association; In September, 49 journalists were prosecuted in 32 different cases in 9 different provinces; 6 of them were sentenced to 27 years and 3 months in total. Verdicts of acquittal were issued for 5 journalists. Within a month, new lawsuits were filed against 4 journalists and new investigations were opened against 6 journalists. - The Constitutional Court decided for the first time that public officials who did not take adequate preventive and protective measures in a femicide should be prosecuted. The Supreme Court ruled that the right to life of academic Serpil Erfindik, who was murdered by her former husband in 2013, was violated. This year, after Turkey's withdrawal from the Istanbul Convention, 270 women were murdered by men. Please click here for details.
